BOTSWANA

Day 1-5 | Maun - Okavango Delta

The Okavango Delta, spanning over 15,000 square kilometres, is a lush, water-rich wilderness teeming with wildlife, thanks to annual flooding from the Okavango River, which originates over 1,200 km away in Angola. Floodwaters arrive by March and peak over four months, with water remaining in canals as levels drop, creating prime conditions for spectacular wildlife sightings. Renowned for its diverse wildlife and accommodation options, the Delta is best visited during the dry season (June–October) when water levels are highest. Many camps offer water-based activities, providing unforgettable, close-up encounters with nature.

ACCOMMODATION OPTIONS

Your adventure begins in one of two safari camps, the Zarafa camp, or the Selinda Camp.

The Zarafa Camp

Zarafa Camp, a luxurious Réserve-Collection safari retreat in Botswana's 130,000-hectare Selinda Reserve, offers a romantic blend of adventure and elegance. Overlooking the stunning Zibadianja Lagoon, providing breathtaking views and access to diverse wildlife.

Selinda Camp

Selinda Camp, part of the Réserve-Collection, offers an intimate luxury safari experience in Botswana's pristine Selinda Spillway. With only three suites, each featuring a private veranda, pool, and luxurious amenities, the camp embodies the elements of Earth, Wind, Water, Fire, and Metal, creating a harmonious connection to nature. Guests enjoy diverse wildlife encounters through open-vehicle game drives, guided bush walks, and seasonal water-based activities, including river boating and fishing.

OKAVANGO DELTA

Day 5-9 | Camp of choice - Duba Plains Camp

Duba Plains Camp, a Réserve-Collection and Relais & Châteaux luxury retreat, offers an exceptional safari experience in Botswana's 33,000-hectare Duba Concession in the heart of the Okavango Delta. Surrounded by palm-dotted islands, floodplains, and woodlands, the camp features a central dining area, lounge, interactive kitchen, wine cellar, library, and an extended deck for al fresco dining under ebony trees. Guests enjoy open-vehicle game drives, bush walks, mokoro excursions, and boating, providing intimate wildlife encounters with leopards, elephants, hippos, and over 200 bird species. Water-based activities depend on seasonal water levels, ensuring varied and immersive experiences.
